1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3, 6, 7, 9, 15, and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 5,502,979 to Renard. Renard discloses the claimed invention of a display cabinet having a modular construction. See especially Figs. 1 and

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 4, 5, and 17-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Renard in view of U.S. Patent No. 2,915,884 to Haushalter et al. Renard discloses the claimed invention except for the insulation. Haushalter et al teaches a display case having walls 40, 42 that are heat-insulated. Thus, it would be obvious to make the walls of the cabinet of Renard heat-insulated, in view of Haushalter et al, with the predictable result that heat losses through the walls are reduced.

5. Claims 8, 10, 11, and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Renard in view of U.S. Patent No. 5,086,627 to Borgen. Renard discloses the claimed invention except for the heat exchange means and fan being built into the upper space of the cabinet. Borgen clearly teaches a display cabinet in which the heat exchange means 75 and fan 86 are built into the upper space of the cabinet. Thus, it would be obvious to modify Renard so that the heat exchange means and fan are built into the upper space of the cabinet, in view of Borgen, with the predictable result that the heat exchange means and fan are easy to reach for repair or replacement purposes.

6. Claims 12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Renard in view of Haushalter et al as applied to claims 4 and 5 above, and further in view of Borgen as applied to claim 8 above.

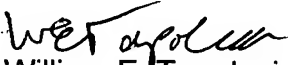

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
